Splendid Silk Values.

We've never offered better values in silk, right at the beginning of the season too, when they are in such demand. Every yard is fresh—not a shopworn piece in the lot. Take advantage of this unusual opportunity. You can't match the qualities at the prices quoted, anywhere. To specialize we divide the offering into four groups:

No. 1—A splendid assortment of plaid, check and stripe waist patterns in 4, 4½ and 5-yard lengths. No two patterns alike, so you are sure of exclusive styles. To make the reductions very clear to you we quote prices by the yard but the silks will be sold in waist lengths and not divided:

75c Silks 59c.

$1 Silks 75c.

$1½ Silks $1.

No. 2—Rajahs in four colors, brown, navy, castor, champagne, are reduced from $1 to 69c. These stylish silks have the weight that makes them very welcome for fall waists and frocks.

No. 3—A broad color assortment of plain taffetas, including dark shades for petticoats and serviceable jumpers and waists, are reduced from 75c to 59c. Strictly first class, new silks. This group includes a few 75c hair line stripes of black, red, brown or blue on white ground, reduced to 59c.

No. 4—Fancy silks of countless pattern and color combination are now 39c instead of 50c. Delightful possibilities for inexpensive party gowns among these pretty silks. Some dark colors too, for less dressy service.

In Its Entirety.

The complete stock of Women's Suits is spread before you now and we know that you'll agree that in satisfactory assortment, style, quality—in everything that makes suit perfection, it leaves nothing to be desired.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM H. TAFT,
of Ohio.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN, of New York.

FOR CONGRESS,
Hon. JOSEPH B. BENNETT.

Mr. BRYAN's 30-cent clubs look it.

A CINCINNATI embezzler stole $6,000 and was released on $2,500 bail. Thus the Courts put a hundred per cent. premium on stealing.

THINGS are getting desperate in the Democratic barnyard. The women of Frankfort are soliciting money for the Bryan campaign. Thus the children and the pigs and the poor little ducks are suffering for want of attention while the women folks are neglecting their domestic "dooties" by going into politics.

The figures of immigration tell the story of prosperity or depression in the United States in a striking manner. In the six months ending June 30th, 377,664 persons classed as laborers left the United States for Europe, while only 186,586 arrived during the same period. At the present rate of immigration it is estimated that the total for the calendar year will not exceed 400,000, as against an average of over a million a year during the six preceding years, when things were booming.

MARSE HENRY files a wordy and a windy protest against the ghost of GROVER CLEVELAND being used as a bugbear to frighten the Democratic party. CLEVELAND and WATTERSON didn't love each other on earth, and they couldn't agree in heaven or—any other place. Is it another story of Banquo's ghost? The only difference between MARSE HENRY and GROVER CLEVELAND was that Mr. CLEVELAND never changed his great economic and political principles, while MARSE HENRY has a new set every four years.

"The number of Taft Clubs is increasing throughout the country," says The Clermont Courier. Yes, FORAKER has one, the Civil War Veterans have one, the colored man has one and the laboring man has one. They are becoming numerous. In fact, they are appearing every few hours.—Georgetown (Ohio) News-Democrat.

It is just such pipe dreams as these that causes Democrats to throw their hats and emit a lot of hot air.

Judge TAFT has nothing whatever to fear from Senator FORAKER's club, from the Civil War Vets' Club or from the Colored Man's Club.

It's true that the labor vote is inimical to Judge TAFT in certain sections; but the vote is so scattered that the defection of labor won't cost him a single State. Republicans have a habit of getting together along about election time that is second nature and surprising.

Mr. BRYAN's followers are all inoculated with his "theories," one of them being that he can be elected to the Presidency.

A LIVELY CORPSE.

Houston Post.

Questioner—I hear his wife is a brunette, but I thought he married a blond.

Joker—He did; but she dyed.

He had a cowlick and his trousers belled at the bottoms. His face was flyspecked, and when he walked, he gave you the impression that one of his legs was over the tug. Otherwise, Rufe wasn't such a rube, although the boys in the office guyed him unmercifully and called him a "scream."

Rufe came in from the tall grass with a load of hogs from Iowa and he wanted employment. He spurned the elevator and, pushing past the private secretary, bearded the "old man" in his den.

"I've come to take a job," he told the "works" as he stopped by the big gun's desk, cap in hand, his cowlick pointing at all angles simultaneously.

The "old man" usually threw such intruders down the air shaft, but as this is only a story, I am going to put out a protecting hand and save Rufe, because he is my hero—and if I lose him, there won't be any story.

So, the "works" saw the funny side of it and told Rufe to take a chair, asking him from whence he hailed.

Rufe told him he was from Hickory Holler, Iowa, that his pa was a good man but poor, that his ma was the greatest woman in the world and he had come to the city to win a name for himself—or blow up.

"Well, you've come to the right place, my boy," advised the boss. "This is the city headquarters of the Consolidated Powder Co., and I'll start you at $4 a week."

This is how Rufe became a fixture. They sent him down to the mill to be water boy and thus work up to the presidency, as was his aim.

The strike week was one of terror. The "works" went down to the mill and hung around in mortal fear of impending disaster. During the first day of the second week of the siege, the "old man" plucked up courage to go through the mill in spite of a warning that if he ever set foot inside the place again, the entire outfit would be blown into oblivion.

With his chin set high and his teeth clenched, the president passed along the office hallway and into the storage rooms. As he crossed the threshold, there was a demoniac scream, a flying flash and a lighted cigarette fell sizzling upon the virgin powder!

It was a moment to make brave men pall! In the great bin were 400,000 bushels of powder, herculean in its awful sleeping power.

As the president reeled, a second cry rent the air and Rufe, water bucket in hand, threw himself upon the flashing powder. Drenching the flame, he proceeded to kick out the remaining sparks with his feet. For the twinkling of an eye it was nip and tuck. He might save the works and the president and he might go up with the mangled remains of animate and inanimate things.

But, no! Victory at last crowned his efforts, and just as he was stamping out the last lingering blaze of the deadly substance, the "old man" fell forward upon his face in a dead faint.

Ah, how proudly they bore Rufe upon their shoulders, hurrahing and singing: "See the conquering hero comes!"

The next day the president came to, and on Ash Wednesday Rufe married his daughter and lived happily for four years, when he got a divorce!

Forewarned.

A Tennessee woman seeks divorce from her husband on the grounds that he is fast becoming impossible to live with. She says: "For six weeks he has owned a balky mule and now he goes to town and buys a gasoline engine that won't gas!"

A diplomat is a man who can "kid" his wife into keeping the garden free of weeds by bragging about what a fine agriculturist she is.

The man who gets excited on a hot day has to pay the laundryman.

NATURE TELLS YOU.

As Many a Maysville Reader Knows—
Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick, Nature tells you all about it. The urine is nature's calendar. Infrequent or too frequent action; Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills. John G. Morris, Jail Keeper, living on Main street, Flemingsburg, Ky., says:

"I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being all that is claimed for them. Several months ago I was suffering severely from kidney disorders, and although I tried many remedies, I was unable to obtain relief. My kidneys were very weak and irregular in action, causing me much inconvenience and annoyance. I lost a great deal of sleep on this account. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me. I procured a box at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore and began using them. I was surprised at the quick results, as the trouble entirely disappeared and I have had no return of any of the symptoms since. I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO MORE STRIPES

For Convicts in the Kentucky Penitentiaries—Novel Innovation

A Frankfort dispatch says: Prison stripes, a mark of degradation and a badge of shame, will soon be a thing of the past in the Penitentiary, except for those convicts who do not care to rise above their surroundings and who are content to be singled out as incorrigible.

As soon as new suits can be made for the prisoners, the old striped suits, which have been in use ever since the prison was built, and which have become the mark of the convict in every State in the Union, will be discarded.

Every convict in the prison will be clothed in a neat gray suit, but little different, except in texture and quality of goods, from suits worn by citizens in the ordinary walk of life.

Every convict will be placed on the same footing and started equally.

Further than this, each convict will eat with a knife and fork and will be put on the same footing as men who are not prisoners.

Heretofore the men have not been allowed knives and forks and have been forced to eat everything with a spoon.

It is a daring experiment that is being tried by the Board of Prison Commissioners and Warden E. E. Mudd, and they have been told that it cannot be successful; but Colonel Mudd believes that it will help the work in the prison, as well as raising the standard among the men.

Six new cells are being built at the Penitentiary. These are to be used as "solitaires," where obstreperous prisoners are to be confined for violation of the prison rules. The cells are built of concrete and are sound proof, so that a prisoner, in one of the cells, will be cut off from all communication with the outside. He will never see anybody or hear anything. It is believed that this method of punishment will be more effective and less cruel than the dungeon. In other prisons where men are placed in the solitary cells they are fed only on bread and water, but Colonel Mudd expects to feed his prisoners in the solitary just as in other places.

TWO SORTS OF DISCONTENT.

One Upbuilds, While the Other Retards Civilization and Progress.

Intelligent discontent is one of the prime factors of progress. It goads men and nations to new attainments. It asks for and secures a Magna Charta in one century, a bill of rights in another. It is the mother of invention and the guardian of liberty. It lays its finger upon an economic wrong and rights it. It fixes its eye upon a distant goal and does not stop until it reaches it. It does not follow will o' the wisp to death in the morasses of political charlatanism, nor does it waste its time in hunting for pots of gold at the foot of economic rainbows.

Unintelligent discontent strikes with its eyes shut and wounds friend and foe indiscriminately. It is the terror of the true statesman, whose plans for economic progress it defeats through its very impatience, but it is the delight of the demagogue, who fattens on its fickleness. Like the dog in the fable, it is ready to drop the meat in its mouth for the shadow piece in the pool. It strives to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs in order that it may acquire a larger share of wealth that is yet to be created.

We are all rightly discontented with some of the results of corporate control of industry and of public utilities. The intelligent seek relief through publicity and regulation, conserving the individual enterprise that has wrought our civilization. The unintelligent snatch at the quick cures of public ownership and socialism.

A DEFINITE DIAGNOSIS.

Co-operation Baiting a Direct Cause of Business Stagnation.

In accepting the Democratic nomination for the governorship of Georgia Joseph M. Brown, after describing the manner in which business and industry had passed from boom to stagnation in Georgia in one short year, said:

"What was the cause of this paralysis of business? Agitation—agitation which denounced the corporation, but ignored the fact that the corporation was but the union of individual citizens who singly were too weak to accomplish the purposes of development which with aggregated capital could build and was building up the state, giving co-ordinately employment to thousands of the worthiest of our fellow citizens. This agitation declared that 5 per cent net was a fair return for those of our fellow citizens who invested their money in stocks of common carrier corporations, but granted to those who owned stock in other corporations the right to earn from 20 to 100 per cent net. It manifestly took no account of the fact that if the officers of public utility corporations were handling the affairs of these corporations in such a manner as was detrimental to the public interest the just method of correcting such abuses was to deal with such officers, but not to inflict a penalty, through serious curtailment of income on their investment, upon innocent stockholders of properties which pay one-eighth of the taxes of Georgia."

Experience Essential.

On the semi-municipal ownership street railway of Cleveland if you offer a five dollar bill in payment of fare the conductor pockets it and tells you to apply at the office of the company for your change. This is bad enough for the man who has more bills in his pocket and plenty of time to chase up his change, but if you haven't another cent to bless yourself with and happen to be miles from home and from the traction office it may be a serious matter. The Cleveland Plain Dealer calls it highway robbery and intimates that practical experience as well as good intention is necessary to run a street railway properly.

They Think They Know It All.

The city council hired an electrical engineer to advise them and to draw the plans and specifications of the municipal lighting plant. When the job is completed that gentleman will have been paid $1,000 or more. In the face of this expenditure a majority of the council voted directly opposite to his recommendations. In other words, they paid $1,000 of the people's money for expert advice, and then they did the other thing. He advised them not to buy the system that they put in, as did others who ought to know.—Ligolier (Ind.) Banner.

Of Course.

Had the municipal affairs of Bay City been conducted as any prudent business firm or corporation conducts its own business the tax rate would not be one-half of what it is at present, the financial condition would not be a blot on the city or a burden to the taxpayers, there would be more paved thoroughfares and decent sidewalks, and there would be no illegal evidence of indebtedness in the form of "yellow horses."—Bay City (Mich.) Tribune.

A Modern Myth.

Public ownership is a modern myth, devised by politicians to get into their own hands the management of undertakings which not one in a hundred of them has the business sagacity to con-

The Wheeling Register says that the tow-boat Tornado, with a fleet of empty coal barges, which was caught some time ago at Possum Rifles, is now high and dry on a bar, with grass growing around her hull. There is scarcely enough water in the harbor there to float a gasoline boat.

The month of August having passed without a rise, rivermen are quoting the old saying: "No rise until Thanksgiving Day." Recollections of former prolonged low stages are being talked over by old-time rivermen and notes compared. Captain McFeeters, now master of the United States steamer T. P. Roberts, tells of a round-trip between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati in the early '70s, when he was in command of the towboat Ark, which consumed seven months. There were a number of quick rises during that period, but by the time the boat would get up steam and proceed a few miles upstream the rise would subside and the boat and tow be forced to the bank again.

Good Summer Tonic

Most people at this time of the year need a good general system tonic. Even those who take the very best care of themselves find that they are obliged in the hot weather to tone up the system. You may not feel the need of it this week, but you will before long; but whether you do now or not remember that PECOR'S ORANGE PHOSPHO is the best known SYSTEM TONIC. It acts through the blood on every part of the system, reviving and stimulating it to new life and injecting the whole body full of energy. JUST WHAT YOU NEED. Only 50 cents per bottle.
